Issue: 2/16 March

"A movement rarely fails because of its values. It fails usually because it is slow to adapt to a future very different from the past. Therefore, tonight, as old scouts meet to celebrate our past and present achievements, let us reflect on how we can help make scouting attractive to a new wired generation of Singaporeans."

- Mr Goh Chok Tong, Senior Minister, at Singapore Scout Association's 100th year anniversary dinner

The President's Scout Chapter hosted the 11th ATAS Gathering on 17th November 2015, as part of the SG 50 International Jamboree. 57 ATAS members from eight different countries gathered in fellowship. More than 20 members received their official ATAS patches.

The Singapore Scout Guild in association with the Singapore Scout Association hosted the World Scout Day 2016 on February 20. This year, we celebrate 100 years of Cub Scouting. There was a good turnout of active and non-active Scout members at the dinner. Guests were treated to a sumptuous buffet and were entertained by performances that included a sing along session by our Senior Scouts and Cub Scouts. It was a great way to start the Scouting year for many and a chance to rekindle old relationships. (Photos by Malcolm Tan)

Elvis Comes To SSA

RI Chapter and Seniors-In-Scouting (SSI) jointly hosted a movie night on 28 January 2016. A good crowd turned up to a screening of the Elvis Presley starrer BLUE HAWAII. Moviegoers included Guild Advisor Dr. Tan Cheng Bock, President of Trefoil Girl Guides and SSA Secretary, Mr. Ong Teong Wan. Look out for the next movie screening!

SCOUT'S

Movies about Scouting are not as popular as several other movie themes for young people. However, there are several movies that either feature scouting or use boy scouts as key part of the character's development. Here are some Scout movies that you should see.

Scout Camp (2009)

This movie looks at scouting with a bit of a comedic eye. York Hayes (Shawn Carter) goes to scout camp and gets an immediate taste of boy scout life. York gets to learn all about the rules and regulations of Boy Scout camp and it's a positive movie for anyone who had a scouting experience because it shows that you don't always have to be serious and that there are plenty of times to laugh at scout camp.

Follow Me, Boys! (1966)

This was the last movie made by Disney Studios before the death of Walt Disney. This movie is about as wholesome as it gets. Lemuel Siddons (Fred MacMurray) is at a bit of a crossroads as he is trying to figure out what to do to fulfill his life. He has designs on becoming a lawyer, and while he is pondering that possibility, he takes a job in a stock room and also decides to become a Boy Scout leader. As he helps lead the boys in his troop, he realizes that his volunteer work with the boy scouts is fulfilling on its own.
